AMONG THE GEMS.
Pliny in the first century was the first writer to describe the diamond.
The Regent diamond, the property of the French government, weighs 136 carats and is valued at 12,000,000 francs.
The finest emerald in Europe belongs to the czar. It weighs only 30 carats, but is of perfect color and transparency.
The Mexicans carved the emerald with wonderful skill, using only silicic acid powder and copper tools alloyed with tin.
The royal crown of Great Britain is composed almost entirely of diamonds, pearls and rubies, weighs 39 ounces and 5 pennyweights troy and is valued at $1,300,000.
The ruby, sapphire, oriental topaz, oriental amethyst, oriental aquamarine, oriental chrysoberyl, hyacinth, star ruby, star sapphire, star topaz, are all corundums of different colors.
Cortez obtained in Mexico five emeralds of wonderful size and beauty. One was cut like a rose, another in the shape of a horn, a third in the shape of a diamond eye, a fourth like a bell with a pearl for a clapper, the fifth was a cup with a foot of gold and with four little chains, each ended with a large pearl.—St Louis Globe-Democrat.

Colonial Relics at Chicago.
Among the colonial relics in the Government building at the World's fair are these two notes: "Mrs. Washington presents her compliments to General Knox and begs his acceptance of two hair nets. They would have been sent long ago but for want of tape which was necessary to finish them, and which was not finished till yesterday. Newburg, March the 6th, 1783."
The stately acknowledgment was: "General Knox has the honor to present his most respectful compliments to Mrs. Washington and to insure her that he is deeply impressed with the sense of her goodness in the favor of the hair nets, for which he begs her to accept his sincere thanks. West Point, March 8th, 1783."

Dyspepsia is the bane of the present generation. It is for its cure and its attendant, Sick Headache, Constipation and Piles, that have become so famous. They act speedily and gently on the digestive organs, giving them tone and vigor, and assimilate food, so that it becomes nourishment.

CONVENIENT VEIL CASE.

It Can Be Made at Home From These Directions.

With the present rage for veils and the necessity the fashion entails for a multitude of the filmy things, a case for their safe keeping is essential to a woman's comfort. The very latest device in this instance keeps the treasures committed to its care not only safe, but smooth as well.

DIAGRAM OF THE CASE.

To make one, cut two stiff cardboard of whatever size you may prefer and fine white linen to cover both. On the latter embroider some dainty floral design or some apt quotation, if any not already hackneyed can be found, and carefully press them both. Cover the boards on both sides with perfumed cotton, then with the linen, and line with thin silk of an appropriate shade. Cut ribbons slightly longer than the width of the boards and attach the ends of two pieces very neatly at the points A, B, C, D, as the diagram shows, and of two others at E, F and G, H, after the manner of an old time currency case. Then as the ribbons are arranged in two, and as each couple is sewed to one edge of each board, the case will open at either end, and the veils will be kept in place without the smallest need of rumpling even the daintiest of them all.

Suggestion For Dolly.

Some novel dollies have a foundation of fine white linen. This is shaped as a poppy, for example, and outlined, veined and shaded with silk. Any flower can be represented and the color chosen to suit the table decoration.

Removing Grease Spots.

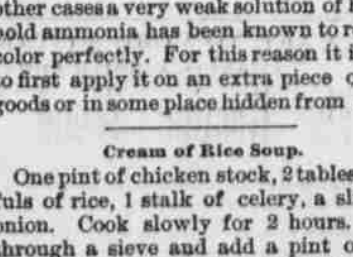

On using naphtha and benzine to remove grease spots from fabrics often a circle or outline of the spot is left so clearly defined that the effect is but little better than that of the grease spot itself. It is in fact the grease spot spread out thinly over a larger surface. To remove the spot entirely the best way is to lay the affected part between brown paper or blotting paper and to press thoroughly with a warm iron. Then if the grease remains rub the spot gently with a sponge moistened in benzine, rubbing from the edge toward the center. Lay a piece of blotting paper over the spot once more to absorb as much of the grease as possible, then wash out the spot in cold water without soap and press it on the wrong side with a warm iron until it is dry. Ammonia should be used with caution in removing spots, as it sometimes changes the color of fabrics as well. In other cases a very weak solution of household ammonia has been known to restore color perfectly. For this reason it is best to first apply it on an extra piece of the goods or in some place hidden from sight.

Cream of Rice Soup.

One pint of chicken stock, 2 tablespoons of rice, 1 stalk of celery, a slice of onion. Cook slowly for 2 hours. Put through a sieve and add a pint of hot milk and a little butter, pepper and salt.

Costume For The Little Ones.

The love of brass buttons and gold straps and "soldier boy" effects is a part of every human soul. The boy's costume shown in the cut will be almost as well-come to a little chap as his first trousers were. It is military in effect and should be in dark blue or green, with braiding of black.

BOY AND DAUGHTER.

A charming costume for a fair haired little girl is of frost blue bengaline. The skirt is perfectly plain, but a trifle full to show the lights of the silk. The waist is pointed slightly back and front and has a girlish effect of ribbons to match the silk. The yoke, collar and cuffs are of heavier colored velvet edged with jeweled gimp. The sleeves are very full, and wide bretelles of the silk go over the shoulders.

HOUSE LINEN.

How to Care For Bed and Table Linen, Towels and Blankets.

To every woman who takes a pride in her home the house linen is a very important matter. Good linen, though expensive at first, is far more economical and satisfactory in the end. A complete list of the linen should be neatly entered in a book, with a space left for remarks in the future. This book should hang inside the press. A tall cupboard, with shelves that can be pulled out, is perhaps the most convenient place in which to store linen, but a large chest with drawers answers very well.

Between the linen bags of lavender should be placed. It is necessary, of course, that everything should be marked. The sheets should be folded in pairs, and a band of wide, colored elastic on which a card is sewed repeating the marks and the name of the bedroom to which the sheets belong passed round each pair. This will enable a new servant or stranger to find what is required in a moment. Pillow-cases should be arranged in sets for every room, with an elastic band round each set and marked in a like manner. Towels should be kept on another shelf of the press, with their distinctive bands. They should be in half dozens, and should also have marked on their bands whether rough, bath or fine quality.

The tablecloths should hang on the card attached to the band surrounding them, which saves the trouble of unfolding and refolding. Serviettes can be kept in pretty colored American cloth or silk cases, or a good plan is to get two or three square baskets without covers—the size of the serviettes when folded—and line these prettily with art muslin, sewing a flap cover on to one side. This could be embroidered with a monogram. If there is a spare shelf, the blankets out of use can be stowed there. They should be tied in pairs and put into a large linen pillowcase, with a lump of camphor between the folds. A reference to the bed to which they belong should be inscribed on the card which is sewed to the case.

Sheets, pillowcases, tablecloths and serviettes should be embroidered with initials in white. If the top sheet is an ornamental one, it looks well to have the owner's monogram worked in the center just below the hem. Towels should be doubled lengthwise and marked in large outline letters in colored flax thread at one end.

A Chip Hat.
Here is an effective hat which owes its chief charm to the accommodating bend of its brim. It is of chip in two colors, black on one side and yellow on the other. At the front the brim inclines toward a slight poke. At the side it flares straight up as though it delighted in showing every wave of the hair. In the back it has a tendency to roll over, giving a glimpse of the yellow side of the chip.

YELLOW AND BLACK.

The crown is covered with broad loops of yellow watered ribbon, which appear to be held in place by long pins of black jet.

Playing at hide and seek with the ribbon loops are three-quarter length ostrich feathers. Those which rest against the ribbon are in black, and the one which falls over the brim in front is of pale yellow. This hat would go well with a black lace dress.

Plaid Waists.

Plaid silk waists are to be worn this summer with dark skirts. The silks are very cool and always look well. They are to be seen ready made, with full ruffles down the front and large, loose puffed sleeves. The waists are made so as to be worn either outside the skirt or inside with a fancy belt. Plaid skirts, however, are not as nice for summer wear as the light wash silks, which come in delicately colored patterns. These are made without lining, and when washed carefully preserve their good appearance for a long time.

Eat Salt With Nuts.

Medical men advise that salt should be taken with nuts, especially when eaten at night. One time, says a writer, while enjoying a visit from an Englishman, hickory nuts were served in the evening, when my English friend called for salt, stating that he knew a case of a woman eating heartily of nuts in the evening who was taken violently ill. The celebrated Dr. Abernethy was sent for, but it was after he had become too fond of his cup, and he was not in a condition to go. He muttered "Salt, salt," of which no notice was taken. Next morning he went to this place, and said he was a corpse. He said that had they given her salt it would have relieved her, for if they would allow him to make an examination he would convince them. On opening the stomach the nuts were found in a mass. He sprinkled salt on them, and immediately it dissolved.

Conversation Parties.

Conversation parties are very popular. The company is divided into groups indicated by the color of the ribbon tied in their number card. The numbers from 1 to 12 will have yellow ribbons, 13 to 26 blue, etc., which in a large company simplifies finding one's partner and saves the embarrassing question, "Do you have a soule?" has to be settled in five minutes, it will be seen that economy of time is vital.

DR. L. L. CARVER.

Stricken Down with Heart Disease.
Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

GENTLEMEN: I feel it my duty, as well as a pleasure, to publish, unhesitatingly, to the world the benefit received from Dr. Miles' RESTORATIVE. I was stricken down with Heart Disease and its complications, my pulse varying from 90 to 140 beats per minute, a choking or burning sensation in the wind pipe, oppression in the chest, much pain in the region of the heart and below lower ribs, in the arms, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, weakness and general debility. The arteries in my neck would throb violently, the throbbing of my heart could be heard across a large room and would shake my whole body. I was so nervous that I could not hold my hand steady. I have been under the treatment of eminent physicians, and have taken gallons of Patent Medicines without the least benefit. A friend recommended your medicine. I was cured by Dr. Miles' RESTORATIVE. I have now three bottles of your Heart Cure and two bottles of your Nervine. My pulse is normal, I have no more violent throbbing of the heart, I AM A WELL MAN. I sincerely recommend every one with symptoms of Heart Disease to take Dr. Miles' RESTORATIVE. Remedies and be cured.
